

An Astonishing Sale of Hosiery

5500 pairs for Men, Women and Children, in a Great Special Purchase—Without exception this is the most important sale of Hosiery we have announced in many months; not only in its size and in the desirability of the numerous offerings, but in the phenomenally low prices it stands out head and shoulders among the others. Nothing more needs to be said, when the usually prevailing prices for Hosiery of the present day are remembered, except to print the items, and to recommend your early sharing of them. Don't Miss This Sale.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Mrs. J. W. Gallup and Mrs. Dorothy Burton were among those from Danielson who were at Connecticut college Tuesday for the graduation of the first senior class of that institution. Mrs. Gallup's daughter, Miss Dorcas, was a member of the graduating class.

The public at large in Killingly, Brooklyn and Hampton has come to realize that the state highway department pays no more attention to their legitimate claims for the completion of what was mapped out as one of the original trunk line highways of Connecticut than the Kaiser would to the plea of a Belgian during the war. This attitude may be regarded as wholly tenable, but there are ways and means of making even such a high and mighty and autocratic part of the state government as the highway department pay attention to citizens of Connecticut and these ways and means will be invoked in the near future.

A meeting of the Danielson Building and Loan association was held on Tuesday evening, and the reports showed the association to be in prosperous condition. A dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum was declared out of the earnings of the past six months. It was voted to issue a new series of shares. Interest in this association continues unabated and the applications for the loans keep ahead of the revenue of the organization.

A car of road oil has arrived here and has been set on the overhead bridge at stage station. But perhaps it is too much to expect that it will be placed on the highways of Killingly, which is one town in Eastern Connecticut that the highway department seems to have an impression is over the boundary in Rhode Island, where many of Killingly's citizens wish it was.

At St. Joseph's church in Dayville, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, Miss Gladys was graduated from the high school. The bride was Miss Gladys, who was a member of the St. Joseph's church. The groom was John Leander, brother of the bride. The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine. She wore a white picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore pink Georgette crepe with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Handall, a graduate of the New Britain High School and of the New Britain Normal School and for several years has been one of Killingly's most successful teachers, her school being at Attawauk. Following the marriage there was a dinner at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Handall, at Attawauk, and the guests numbering about 45. The bride couple received many greetings and good wishes. Soon after the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan left for their wedding trip.

Having failed to heed numberless warnings that the railroad company has issued against the practice of persons trespassing on their property, a number of Danielson's residents will be required to appear before Judge W. Penner Woodward in the town court this morning at 9:30. They will be charged with trespassing upon railroad property.

Railroad police came here Tuesday morning and stationed themselves at points in the railroad yard where most of the trespassing occurs. They were not on duty long before they began to apprehend those who were crossing the tracks or walking down the tracks, and in many instances those who were stopped were ordered to report to Chief John McFarland and by him instructions to come into court today.

Some here were inclined to criticize the action of the railroad company as arbitrary, but the fact is that trespassing has grown to such an extent here and constitutes such a danger to human life that the company is well within its rights in its efforts to protect people from themselves and its own interests from the damage suits that almost invariably result against the road when a trespasser is injured. Many who live in the Riverview section, especially children, are inclined to cross the tracks of the yard daily, and to cross where they have no legal right of way. Repeated efforts to stop the practice by persuasion and warnings have failed, so more drastic action has become necessary. Scores of operatives of one of the borough's big textile plants make a daily, and a nightly practice, of walking up and down the tracks, and to this the railroad company objects.

Several who will appear in court today were picked up crossing the tracks near the freight station of the Rhode Island company. The main street crossing, where they might pass without being questioned, is but a few feet below. Others were stopped while crossing the tracks near the Samuel Davis property, below the crossing. Still others were found cutting across near the north end of Pellet's building and the telephone building, at the head of Academy street. There is what has been claimed by one local attorney as an open right away across the tracks at the western end of Academy street, near what is known as the old main street. Years ago there was a crossing there, but for more than two decades no vehicles have regularly crossed at this point. It is contended, however, that this crossing is still legally open and if those who were apprehended crossing there on Tuesday are prosecuted today an action will be started to compel the railway company to reopen the crossing for vehicular traffic.

It was pointed out on Tuesday that those who must appear in court today are simply more unfortunate than scores of others who trespass on the company's property but who didn't happen to get caught by the railroad police. The trespassing practice is very general and hundreds here have been guilty of it from time to time. Dance Ashland Casino, Jewett City, tonight. If rainy come Friday night—adv.

PUTNAM

Charles Ryan, just returned here after 14 months' service overseas as a member of the 326th Infantry, where he was quartermaster, mentioned in conversation Tuesday morning relative to his experiences that his outfit was fighting hard right near the 328th Infantry of the same division—the All-American—on the morning the Sergeant, now Colonel, Alvin York, Tennessee's one-man army, performed the wonderful feat that has brought him international fame. Mr. Ryan said he never saw York, but the regiments of which they were members were close together in hard fighting in which the All-American took part.

Mr. Ryan was gassed in the St. Mihiel drive, getting a bad dose of it during a period of 25 hours in which they were in the very midst of clouds of it, with no opportunity to take off their gas masks.

Recovering from the gas attack, he went back to his command in time to get into the Argonne fighting, where he received a shrapnel wound in the head. Looking hale and hearty, he is mighty glad to be home in Putnam again and his many friends here are glad to have him.

Whatever might be said about the attendance at the special town meeting and the special city meeting, both on Tuesday, those who did go to vote on the matter of appropriating money to meet expenses connected with the forthcoming welcome home celebration for Putnam's service men may be complimented for having been unanimously in favor of the proposals they were considering. There was not a negative vote. Seven voted at the special town meeting; 11 voted at the city meeting.

At each meeting a sum not to exceed $1000 was appropriated, making $2,000 available for the celebration. The small amount of money generally conceded, was not regarded as indicating that there is not the slightest opposition to the appropriations. This having been the feeling throughout the city since the celebration was first proposed and the suggestion made that appropriations be made, the average citizen decided to "let George do it." The feeling of the city was concerned, and there were only a few "Georges" at leisure Tuesday.

A number of houses that are to be erected here for the Manhasett Manufacturing company, as a part of their recently announced building program, have been shipped and are en route to Putnam. These houses are of the ready-cut style, as are other conventional homes that have been put up in Putnam since the concern began to build up here.

Selectmen of all of the towns of Windham county have filed at the office of the clerk of the superior court a petition for the election of a jury for jury service during the year beginning September 1. From each town twice as many names come in as will be allotted to each town by the jury commissioners—E. M. Warner, Charles Brown, both of this city, and Charles S. Hyde, Brooklyn, when they come here next month to go over the lists, as is their annual custom.

F. E. Warner, who represents the New England Milk Producers' association in Connecticut and Rhode Island, was in Windham county towns Tuesday and will spend today traveling about with County Agent W. Ellis getting cost production figures on milk from farmers in different towns hereabouts. It is understood that these figures are being secured as a basis for computing prices that the producers hope to obtain for their milk when the next price adjustment is made with distributors in Boston, Providence and other big centers in New England. As the result of milk surveys that have been undertaken by numerous farmers in county towns, under the direction of the Farmers' association, during the past few months it is expected that the farmers will have a much more definite idea as to what it costs them to produce a quart of milk than they formerly had.

Miss Charlotte Embleton, home economics director in Windham county, has a cooking class organized from among the membership of the Girls' club at Wauregan. It was stated at her office here Tuesday morning that road company objects. Several who will appear in court today were picked up crossing the tracks near the freight station of the Rhode Island company. Famo Must Grow Hair or Money is Returned FAMO is sold by the druggist named in this advertisement, on a positive money-back basis. Unless you are absolutely satisfied with FAMO, you may return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money.

But we know you will not have to take advantage of this offer. The results achieved by FAMO are so wonderful that every purchaser is more than satisfied.

FAMO destroys the dandruff bacilli. It stops all scalp itching. It checks the deadly seborrheic excretion which causes dandruff and makes the hair and scalp healthy.

There has never been anything like the way FAMO nourishes the hair. Even where baldness has appeared, FAMO will encourage and stimulate a growth of new hair—thickens the roots are absolutely dead.

New, luxuriant hair appears when FAMO is used regularly. When FAMO is used, the seborrheic microbe dies. The dandruff disappears.

Nature has its way. The hair flourishes as it never did before. Grayness is retarded because FAMO contains no alcohol.

The persistent use of alcohol on the head causes grayness and falling hair.

When you use FAMO you can see the difference almost from the first application. The natural color is intensified—the hair has a new lustre and sheen.

The hair grows like the hair of a healthy child.

The scalp is as clean as a baby's—the hair luxuriant and soft.

FAMO is the result of three years of careful experimentation in the laboratories of one of the oldest pharmaceutical houses in Detroit.

Before it was offered to the public, it had been tried and tested and had proven the wonderful results it accomplishes.

FAMO is the answer of scientists to the ravages of the seborrheic bacilli which cause unhealthy hair. Even if dandruff has not made its appearance, you should use FAMO to keep the scalp and hair healthy and make the hair fluffy and beautiful.

FAMO comes in two sizes—35 cents and an extra large bottle at $1.00.

It is sold at all toilet goods counters.

Schwarzkopf is a markedly increased flow from the sebaceous glands in scales. The seborrheic excretion forms in scales. Famo and is extremely known as
